Mountain Chapel Lithograph 38 x 56cm

This recent lithograph depicts a small and remote mountain chapel on the Greek island of Tinos, which has often been in my thoughts during the pandemic lockdown. For me, isolation has been a positive time as it's provided an opportunity to pause and reflect on life. While this might be considered a luxury in Melbourne, where being busy can be a measure of worth, I imagine it's a normal part of life for the local folk who visit the mountain chapel.
